

COUNTY GIVES AID TO LOCAL HOSPITAL

County Council Appropriates $2,000 to Assist in Maintaining Seymour Institution.

OTHER REQUESTS ARE HEARD

Appropriations for County Government Will be Completed Before Adjournment Today.

At the request of the trustees of the Schneck Memorial Hospital the county council today granted an appropriation of $2,000 for that institution. The appropriation was made under an Indiana law which became effective in 1911 and which provided that financial assistance may be given to public hospitals out of the county funds. An appropriation was asked last year but the petition was refused.

C. D. Billings, president of the board of trustees of the hospital, appeared before the council Tuesday afternoon and presented arguments in favor of the appropriation. He said that the hospital was a public institution and was open to the entire county. He further pointed out that the necessity of such institutions is being felt in many counties where hospitals were being built at a large cost by the county and maintained out of public funds.

Mr. Billings explained that this county was fortunate in having an institution erected by private parties and that only a small portion of the maintenance fund was being asked from the county. The petition was looked upon favorably and the appropriation made.

The council will adjourn this afternoon after making the appropriations for the several departments of the county government. The estimates were filed by the officials and it is understood that the total appropriations will be about the same as last year. The report of the council will be filed upon adjournment. Since the session convened a number of officials and others interested in proposed appropriations have appeared before the board.

The county council is composed of seven members: Henry F. Elsner, J. H. Bettenbrock, Jonathan Robertson, Jason Bottorff, Ralph Johnson, David Hughes and D. H. Fountain. All the members were present with the exception of Mr. Hughes who is in Georgia. The council began the consideration of the appropriations Tuesday morning.

FARMERS' CLUB REGISTER SHOWS MEMBERSHIP OF 900

New Members are Enrolled Each Month and Institution is Steadily Growing in Popularity.

The membership of the Farmers' Club, which will celebrate its first anniversary next month, is steadily growing. Each month new members have been enrolled and at the close of August the register showed 900 members. The directors hope to see one thousand members enrolled by the time the institution is one year old. A number of farmers and others interested are devoting attention to the membership with the aim of filing the one hundred names before the middle of next month. There is no fee attached to joining the club. Any one who gains a living wholly or in part from agricultural pursuits is eligible to membership.

The Club is constantly growing in popularity and a large number of farmers and their families are taking advantage of it each week. It is especially popular with the women, who not only use the building as a meeting place, but accept the conveniences of the well equipped dining room. Many of them keep a basket of dishes at the Club so as to avoid the necessity of carrying them back and forth from their homes.

M. S. Blish, one of the donors of the handsome building and the originator of the farmer club idea, has received hundreds of inquiries concerning it. During the last year nearly every agricultural publication has published a description of the building with comment on the unique idea.

FARMER BREAKS LEG WHILE TRYING TO QUIET HORSES

Catches Foot in Briar and Falls Over Rock After Bumble Bees Attack the Team.

Accidents come in bunches for Spencer Goss, who lives one and one-half miles west of Heltonville. He was plowing on a farm that belongs to Robert Clark and was driving three horses. One of the horses stepped into a bumble bees' nest and the bees started to take out their spite on the horses.

Goss tried to get to the horses' and in going around them caught his foot on a long briar. He was tripped and fell across a stone breaking one leg between the knee and ankle. He was given assistance and with the horses was removed a safe distance from the angry bees.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE HAS MANY TASKS

Sessions of Commissioners and Council Mean Added Labor for This Department.

ONE BRIDGE CONTRACT LET

Bids for Other Bridges Were Rejected and Specifications Will be Altered.

County Auditor Albert Luedtke and his assistant, C. F. Lautzenheiser, were unusually busy today on account of the several meetings in session and the general activity around the court house. The meeting of the county commissioners always mean much work for the auditor's office but this month the session of the county council was held and the trustees are beginning to file their reports at the same time.

The commissioners adjourned late Tuesday afternoon after a two days' session. The usual routine business was transacted. It was expected that bridge contracts amounting to about $15,000 would be awarded and bids were filed by a number of firms. The commissioners, however, rejected all of them and after the specifications are revised will again advertise for proposals. The bridges to be con-

AUTUMN STYLES ARE ON DISPLAY

Local Show Windows Reflect Advent of Fall Season in Beautiful New Displays.

NEW GOODS ARRIVING DAILY

It May Not Seem Like Fall Today, But The Display Windows Tell a Convincing Story.

Although the sun is shining today with all the intensity that should have been brought into play in August, and although the breeze from the electric fans has been pleasing and comfortable, nevertheless, poor old Summer is being rudely pushed off the stage and in its place we have our old friend Autumn, escorted by her sponsors, the Misses September and October. For the Autumn of beautifully colored leaves, of crisp mornings when walking is a keen delight, of cool evenings when the cheerful crackle of a grate fire makes the home cozy, attractive and comfortable, the Autumn of school days, football and oysters, the Autumn of cosmos, golden rod and chrysanthemums, and the Autumn of new styles in ladies' and gents' wearing apparel is right upon us, the summy atmosphere of today to the contrary notwithstanding.

Nowhere is the advent of the fall season more attractively reflected than in the show windows of Seymour shops. The clothing and gents' furnishing shops, department stores, ladies' cloak and suit shops, dry goods stores and millinery shops of the city are all beautifully trimmed with displays of the latest showings in wearing apparel. The clothing store windows are showing the fall styles in both ready made suits and tailored to measure materials, and the materials and styles shown afford a wide range of choice. The shops selling ladies suits, coats and dress goods are attracting much attention from shoppers, and those who appreciate the wisdom of an early selection are buying now. The new fall styles are becoming and attractive, with a tendency to conservative lines. The Seymour stores are showing lines of goods that will rival those of the larger city stores, and it is well known that the Seymour prices are always considerably lower than city stores ask.

The millinery shops are showing the new fall styles in hats, and will be arranging for their annual fall openings in the near future. The shoe stores have removed the low cuts from their windows and in their places are the pretty new fall shoes. Summer goods are being boxed up and put away for the season, and stores of every kind are busy unpacking fall and winter stocks and arranging them for display. The wisdom of early buying is being shown by many, who will, of course, get first choice of the attractive designs in fall costumes.

Again the fact is brought forcefully home to Seymour people that it is unnecessary to go to the city to buy any line of goods. It is not only unnecessary, it is disloyalty to the business men of your home town who

TO WAGE CAMPAIGN AGAINST CHOLERA

County Agent Cobb Takes Steps to Prevent Further Epidemic Among Hogs.

VACCINATION COST IS SMALL

Two Meetings Arranged for Next Week When Methods of Vaccination Will Be Demonstrated.

A widespread outbreak of hog cholera in Grassy Fork township has been brought to light by recent investigations of County Agent A. D. Cobb, who is now planning a campaign in an effort to control the epidemic, and prevent its further spread to other parts of the county.

Over a month ago it was reported at the county agent's office that there were a number of sick hogs in Grassy Fork township, and after an investigation Mr. Cobb pronounced the malady as hog cholera of the chronic type, which attacks the animals slowly and is usually not fatal for several weeks after making its first appearance. A number of farmers of the neighborhood disputed the county agent's diagnosis, and said that the hogs were dying from an attack of pneumonia.

To verify his statements, Mr. Cobb called Dr. D. D. Clark of the Veterinary Department of the State Experiment Station at Lafayette, to conduct a post mortem investigation of sick hogs on the farm of Smart Brothers, near Tampico. Dr. Clark reported the hogs to be sick of cholera of the chronic form, and stated that there were no symptoms in any way resembling pneumonia.

Hogs on the Smart farm had been vaccinated with anti-cholera serum purchased from a company at Indianapolis, and Dr. Clark immediately started an investigation to determine why these hogs should be attacked by the cholera. Serum from this company has given poor results in several cases this summer, and Dr. Clark who is the official inspector of serum plants in Indiana, ordered the management of this company to re-vaccinate the Smart hogs at once free of charge. He stated that a few of the hogs would probably die but by prompt action most of them could be saved.

Two meetings are being arranged by the county agent for next week at which the methods of vaccination will be demonstrated, and farmers of that township instructed in preventing the disease.

Mr. Cobb stated today that he had learned from several sources that a representative of a Louisville firm was very busy selling a hog cholera medicine to farmers living in the affected region. Mr. Cobb denounced all such remedies as fakes, and said that a state law providing for the handling of such fakers, and that he would be backed by the veterinary department of Purdue University, and the State Veterinarians' office in urging the prosecution of these parties.

"There is no cure for hog cholera," said Mr. Cobb, "and the only safe means of prevention is by the use of the anti-hog cholera serum.

MUCH WRANGLING OVER JURY IN BELL TRIAL

Each Step in Election Conspiracy Election Trial is Fought with Bitterness.

By United Press. Indianapolis, September 8.—The fight of the defense and prosecution in the trial of Mayor Joseph E. Bell on election conspiracy charge centered about the strategic advantage in getting a jury. That the Indianapolis News will be brought continually into the trial by the defense was indicated by Charles Miller, chief counsel for the defense.

When Judge Eichhorn denied the defense the right to sound veniremen as to their attitude that the News hatched the indictment and helped in choosing assistance for the prosecution Miller said:

"The time will come when we shall prove that the Indianapolis News plays an all important part in this prosecution."

William Spray, a mail carrier, was examined for the jury. His examination alone took over an hour.

Thomas Taggart began actively to consult with the defense attorneys today. He changed from a position as a mere spectator to a chair directly behind the defense and whispered with Bell's attorneys many times.

That this will be a legal battle of some bitterness was indicated when Miller, Spann and others for the defense directed biting remarks at Joseph Roach who responded in kind.

When Roy D. Barnes, a printer, said he would be influenced by the fact that several defendants to the indictment had pleaded guilty, he was excused.

GERMANY CERTAIN OF SUCCESS IN WAR

Confidence Never Greater Even if Conflict Resolves Itself Into War of Exhaustion.

SEE DIFFICULTIES IN WEST

Assurance is Given Kaiser's Forces Will Break Through Anglo-French Lines.

(By Edward L. Keene, European War Manager of United Press) (Copyright in 1915 by United Press. Copyrighted in Great Britain.)

London, September 8.—Germany is not angling for peace. She was never more confident of the ultimate outcome even if the world contest should resolve itself into a war of exhaustion.

Germans generally appreciate that their task on the western front is vastly more difficult than in the East but they are absolutely convinced of their ability to break through the Anglo-French lines when desirable.

In all quarters in Berlin, it is asserted that Germany is equipped not only from the military standpoint but also financially and economically to continue the struggle indefinitely.

I have just returned from a week's visit to Berlin. The above conclusions are based upon personal observations and conversations with Germans of low and high degree among the latter several high government officials.

GERARD HANDED GERMANY'S NOTE

Understood that Communication Justifies Submarine Attack on the Arabic.

TEXT IS NOT MADE PUBLIC

Reported that Commander of Submarine Says He Shot Torpedo in Self-Defense.

By United Press. (By Carl W. Ackerman, United Press correspondent.

Berlin, Via The Hague, September 8.—Germany's note to the United States with regard to the torpedoing of the liner Arabic, was delivered to Ambassador Gerard last night.

The contents have not been made public. It is understood, however, that the note contains the substance of the report of the commander of the submarine that sank the Arabic. He justified the attack on the ground that he feared his vessel was about to be rammed and shot a torpedo in self-defense.

No official statement on this point has been given out by the admiralty. But it is understood here that the report of the commander of the U-boat that sank the liner was received a few days ago. This disposed of the reports from English sources that the submarine had been sunk or captured.

The government was disposed to proffer an explanation to Washington on the Arabic incident as quickly as possible to clear up any misunderstanding that might remain after Ambassador Bernstorff's statement to the American state department. The note as completed, is contained in four typewritten pages. It was handed to Ambassador Gerard at 8 o'clock last night.

STATE DEPARTMENT WANTS INFORMATION

Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, is Asked if He Has Other Facts Relative to Hesperian.

By United Press. Washington, September 8.—The State Department announced today that Ambassador Gerard, Berlin, had been asked to ascertain whether the German government had any information concerning the Hesperian incident. It was said this was not a request on Berlin to report, but a step to learn if anything was to be expected.

Pure water is essential to good health—and pure water is within the reach of every one.
Some prefer the various bottled brands of standard quality for drinking purposes, others clean and supply their own household supply.
There are many excellent devices for removing dirt and organisms from water.
Some are quite inexpensive, others very elaborate.
It is well to know about them and their use if needed should not be delayed.

SAFEGUARD IS NEEDED.

A most unjust practice, and one that is permitted in a number of towns and small cities, is that of allowing transient peddlers, under the guise of salesmen, to solicit orders without first requiring them to pay a heavy license. The local merchants and dealers pay an enormous sum each year in the way of taxes, rents, contributions to public enterprises and a hundred other ways, yet these out-of-town salesmen are permitted to deliver goods without expending one penny for the right. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred they charge more for the same quality of goods than the local merchants, so both the city and the purchasers lose.

The local merchants and dealers are entitled to the trade and patronage of the community. They work, talk and fight for the best interests of that community 365 days out of the year. Upon them depends the city. As a general rule, they take the initiative in advancing movements and usually assume the financial burden. They are local boosters because they want to see the community in which they live grow and improve in every way.

As a business proposition, local people should trade with local merchants. The dealers are firmly established, they handle well known lines of quality, they make their prices right and place their personal guarantee back of every sale they make. They are striving to build a reputation for their stores and realize that every sale must be absolutely satisfactory.

It is always the local merchant that is asked to extend credit. Just pause for a moment and think what the result would be if all the local dealers would demand cash for every sale the same as out-of-town firms do! But besides this privilege, which is costly to the merchant, they sell their goods more reasonably than the invading peddlers. The local merchant should always be given the first chance to supply the community's wants.

There are reasons why the score why the local dealers should be patronized in preference to the unknown firms. A city ought to protect not only its merchants, but those who might be led to believe they get fair treatment from the peddlers, some of whom never dare to visit the same community twice.

The question of taxation is commanding more attention than at any former time. An analysis of the reports from all parts of the state shows that nearly all cities and towns of any size are carrying a heavy burden—in many cases so large that investments in city property have ceased to be desirable. When such a condition is found it is time that the treatment be administered. The system may be faulty, but in a nut shell the question of taxes becomes one of economic administration.

The value of the Indiana State Fair is great. There, may be found the best that is produced on Hoosier soil. The worth of scientific agriculture is demonstrated in many instances and all the new types of farm machinery are displayed and can be compared. Every booth and every exhibit has something of interest to the farmer. The State Fair has become the exchange for ideas on present day farming.

In no other community in Indiana have the farmers the privilege of such a well arranged and comfortable home at their trading center as is afforded by the Farmers' Club here. It is open to all farmers. It was built exclusively for them and their families and they are entitled to all the privileges without any cost whatever. The popularity of the Farmers' Club is increasing and will continue to increase as its purposes become more generally known.

Hayden is making preparation for a great time at their Home Coming next Saturday, Sept. 11. "Goldie Stubbins" will address the crowd in the afternoon on Woman's Suffrage. This will be one of the funniest features of the program and is to be carried out by a Seymour girl. In addition there will be speaking, music, base ball, tug of war, pole climbing, baby show, etc., all for prizes that will be offered.

WOMAN'S PAGE IS NEW FEATURE OF REPUBLICAN

Believing that the women of Seymour will appreciate a page devoted entirely to their affairs, The Republican takes pleasure in announcing that a "Woman's Page" will be a new feature of this paper. It will appear each Thursday and will contain articles of interest to club women and recipes and household hints and numerous other notes that will appeal to the housewife.

An interesting feature of this new department is that the columns will be open to all the women of Seymour and any contributions by them will be appreciated. Every housewife has an individuality in her methods of housekeeping. All of them have by experience, discovered ways of keeping house that would be of interest to their neighbors. The Republican wants such methods told in the columns of the Woman's Page.

Another feature will be the "Favorite Recipe" column. Every housewife knows of many recipes that are favorites with her family. Through this column others can be given the benefit of such recipes. It will be an exchange column of ideas and its value is at once apparent.

Several interesting articles have been contributed for Thursday's page.
 The Republican desires that the women of Seymour make this page one which will be a real value and service to them. The Republican wants every woman in Seymour to contribute to this department. All recipes, household hints and suggestions will be appreciated. Contributions will appear under signature unless the contributors ask otherwise.

Notice.
 All accounts not settled by September 12th will be placed with an attorney.

DUMBA ACTED UPON ORDERS

Makes Astounding Statement to Lansing.
TO EMBARRASS INDUSTRY

Ambassador, in Writing Letters, Was Complying With Instructions From Vienna—May Raise Grave Issue With Austria-Hungary.

Washington, Sept. 8.—As a result of a statement to Secretary Lansing by Dr. Dumba, the Austria-Hungary ambassador at this capital, an issue of grave importance has been raised between the United States and Austria-Hungary.

At a conference between the ambassador and the secretary of state, Dr. Dumba is said to have informed Mr. Lansing that in writing the letter to Foreign Minister Burian suggesting measures whereby the Bethlehem steel and other ammunition plants might be embarrassed by the withdrawal of Austro-Hungarian workmen, he was acting in accordance with instructions issued by his government. The letter was found on the person of J. F. J. Archibald by British authorities in London last week. It now develops that the document in question was not a suggestion originating with Ambassador Dumba, but a report submitted upon orders from Vienna.

The conference at the state department was held as a result of an engagement made at the instance of Dr. Dumba following the publication of the letter taken from Captain Archibald, the American war correspondent. The ambassador told his story at length to Secretary of State Lansing, who refused, however, to make any comment on the call or its possible consequences.

In the opinion of officials the Dumba letter, in the light of the statement made by the ambassador becomes a question for discussion between the two governments. It no longer forms the basis of a possible complaint against the activities of an ambassador to the United States. It is the understanding that the question will now be submitted to President Wilson for determination and that whatever action is taken will be dictated by the president himself. Whether the incident will lead to the recall of Ambassador Dumba will become known in the comparatively near future.

This statement by the ambassador, offered in justification and explanation of his letter, was interpreted here as placing a much more serious aspect on the whole matter. It is no longer considered a question of this government manifesting its disapproval of the act of the Austro-Hungarian government, but rather one of holding that government itself to account for what is generally held by officials to be at the very least a most disagreeable scheme of interference with American industry. It is pointed out that a request for the recall of the ambassador hardly will satisfy the situation, where the ambassador merely has obeyed the instructions of his government.

Secretary Lansing did not, in his interview with the ambassador, in any way commit the United States to a particular course of action in the matter, nor did he set forth any view of the incident on behalf of this government. He merely listened to the ambassador's statements and declared that he would be glad to lay them before President Wilson. He assured the ambassador that no action would be taken by this government until the facts and views presented by the ambassador had been most carefully considered.

It is understood that the question will probably come up at the next cabinet meeting. The statement was made authoritatively that no course of action has been decided upon. In fact, there is good reason to believe that the administration is considerably perplexed at the ambassador's statement that all he has done he has done in response to instructions from this government.

Ambassador Dumba had no statement to make following his conference with the secretary.

NO LIVES LOST. IS BELIEF

Berlin Newspapers Regard Hesperian Case as Practically Closed.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—Very little additional news respecting the sinking of the Hesperian was printed in Berlin. The morning editions had not yet received word that there was any loss of life, and, in the belief that the ship had been attacked and sunk without death to any one, some of the papers pointed out that this was a result of the new instructions, issued to submarine commanders.

The public considers the case practically closed and public officials are loath to be interviewed on the subject.

Yeggmen Open Safe.

Bedford, Ind., Sept. 8.—Yeggmen blew the safe at the Standard Oil company's office here and the company's employers say that the amount of cash obtained was small but that some valuable papers were destroyed.

TO WAGE CAMPAIGN OF EXTERMINATION

Carranza Will Have No Mercy to Enemies.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—It has been announced by General Pablo Gonzales, Constitutionalist commander at the capital, that after the expiration of the amnesty period, Sept. 15, there will be no mercy for enemies of his cause.

Not only will there be punishment for enemies in the field, but for all direct abettors of treason, even to those who disseminate false or demoralizing news as well as those who circulate money issued by any but the Carranza government.

"We will institute a veritable campaign of extermination against all armed enemies," General Gonzales declares.

"Only those living in the outlying districts who can prove they did not know of the amnesty decree and surrender at once with their followers, will receive mercy after the fifteenth."

Unofficially it is reported that General Obregon and his men have taken Icamolo, in the state of Nueva Leon. Officially it is announced that a train of twenty-nine carloads of provisions left Vera Cruz on Aug. 25 and is momentarily expected here to relieve the situation. The authorities announce that the provisions will be sold to the poor at a very low price.

MRS. ARMOUR RECOVERING

Struck With a "Billy" by Burglars Who Robbed House.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Mrs. J. Ogden, society leader and wife of the multimillionaire packer, recovering at her town house from an attack made on her by two burglars who forced entrance to the house and stole jewelry and money to the value of $3,385, expressed pride in her exploit and declared that if there had been only one intruder she could have overcome him.

Her story was told while a police dragnet was out over the city for all suspicious characters answering the description of two of the three men who are believed to have had a part in the robbery. The burglary was characterized as one of the most daring in the annals of the police department.

Mrs. Armour was struck with a "billy" by one of the burglars while she was trying to wrest a revolver from the hand of the other man.

Ida Rodgers Becomes Mother.

New York, Sept. 8.—Ida Sniffen Walters Rogers became a mother again, when a baby girl was born to her and her husband, Loris Elton Rogers, whose two children by her she killed last January. The baby was born at a house in West Ninetieth street, the address of which is said to be unknown to District Attorney Martin, of the Bronx.

Russian Violinist Hurt.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A severe flesh wound on the middle finger of his right hand, received when his auto overturned at the foot of a steep sandy hill near Lake George will not prevent Efram Zimbalist, Russian violinist, husband of Alma Gluck, from future playing.

More Munition Plants.

London, Sept. 8.—Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, announced that 180 more factories, transformed into munition plants have been taken over by the munition department. This makes a total of 715 munition plants now under control of the munition department.

Reported Lost on the Hesperian.

Queenstown, Sept. 8.—The American consul has been informed that a man named Wolf, twenty-one years old, was lost with the Hesperian. He was a native of New Jersey.

RUSS-TEUTONS IN DEADLOCK

German Progress Checked by Desperate Fighting.

ATTACKS DIRECTED ON RIGA

Some Military Observers Profess to See Exhaustion of Kaiser's Armies in Present Deadlock; Others, That Russians Now Have Ammunition.

London, Sept. 8.—In the east from Riga to Bessarabia, the German armies are either so exhausted from their enormous efforts of the last few months that they can no longer assert their impelling offensive or the Russians, having gathered new strength and munitions, have turned to make a definite stand and are holding their opponents.

In either event the victorious march of the Germans through Russia has slowed down to a creep during the last few days and has netted practically no gains.

Because of the apparent deadlock between the armies in the east the greatest interest has been aroused here. Some of the military observers believe that the first signs of German exhaustion are now beginning to appear while others think that the Russian forces have at last been supplied with ammunition and are now coping on an equal footing with their opponents.

According to the German war office, the Russians evacuated their positions at Drogitschin and Chomsk, about thirty miles west of Pinsk, but at no other point in the enormous battle line were any positions of consequence given up. The attempt to cross the Dvina at Friedrichstadt, which has been pressed with the utmost vigor for the last week, has so far failed completely, while southeast of Grodno, on a line extending through Wolkowysk to Pruzany, the Russians are attacking furiously and are succeeding in checking the Germans.

It would appear that the chief German effort at present is being directed against the front from Riga to Friedrichstadt in an effort to capture Riga and at Drogitschin, where Pinsk is the objective. In Galicia, where the Austrian armies are expending every effort to drive the Russians from Austrian soil the Russians are standing firmly on the east bank of the Sereth.

German aviators who dropped bombs on the open town of Gerardmer, in the Vosges, killed two persons. In response to this act French aeroplanes flew over Freiburg in Breisgau, Baden, and bombarded the military stations there. Other places also were shelled by French aviators.

There has been lively artillery firing at several points between infantry action.

The French communique follows: "Our artillery in the region of Nieuport co-operated in the bombardment by the British fleet of German batteries near Westende."

"There was a violent cannonade north of Arras. Our batteries inflicted severe damage on enemy organizations at several points."

"In the region of Roye and Champagne about Auberive and Perthes the artillery duel was continued with the activity of preceding days."

"In the Argonne, between La Houyette and La Fontaine aux Charnes, in the Woevre to the north of Flirey and in Lorraine, in the region of Bozanges and Leintrey artillery actions in which we had the advantage are reported."

"The bombardment of a quarter of Raon l'Etape was continued by reply fire on our part against the German supply depots behind the front."

"In the valley of Rabodeau, in reply to the bombardment of the open town of St. Die and Gerardmer, by German aviators, a French squadron threw bombs on the station and military establishments at Friebourg in Baden. Fires were observed. The machines returned undamaged."

"Our aeroplanes have also bombarded the station at Sarrenbourg, Warrnerville, Tergnier and Lens."

NEW POWER FOR SUBMARINE

Valveless Engine Expected to Add to Efficiency of Craft.

New York, Sept. 8.—A new engine which is expected to make the submarine an even more powerful craft was demonstrated when C. P. Vancian, owner of the yacht, Southwark, took a party of engineers and newspaper men on a trip around New York waters to show the working possibilities of a new valveless engine. The latest thing in motive power is of the Diesel type, burning heavy oil, but has many improvements over the former engines of this type.

The new engine starts entirely on air, avoiding the former electric starting scheme in use with oil engines.

Mexico City Frightened.

Mexico City, Sept. 8.—The tenseness of the situation here was increased by two light earthquake shocks. Both sent the people scampering into the streets and for a time there was great excitement. No damage was done by either shock.

REMOVE PART OF BRAIN OF AEROPLANE VICTIM

Surgeons Make Effort to Save Boy's Life.

Washington, Ind., Sept. 8.—Hope is being entertained for the recovery of all the victims of the aeroplane accident in this city, though there is apparently small chance for one of the victims.

The Singleton boy was one of three persons who suffered fractured skulls. Surgeons removed a portion of the boy's skull and part of his brain and they asserted there was a slender chance of his recovery. He has not recovered consciousness.

All of the score of persons injured when the machine ran wild after a flight at a Labor day celebration are still alive, but the recovery of Ralph Singleton, eleven years old, is doubtful.

Miss Mabel Taylor, seventeen years old, and Vinson Jones, who also sustained fractures of their skulls, are expected to survive.

A thorough investigation of the accident is being made, but responsibility has not been made. Opinion of witnesses, who saw the dash of the machine into the crowd as it landed, is divided.

Many persons blame the special policemen for not holding back the crowd, while others still insist that Oscar Cook, the aviator, did not take proper precautions.

SECRETARY WAS WARNED

Says Mrs. Mohr Phoned Her Not to Accompany Doctor.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 8.—Miss Florence Ormsby, secretary to Dr. Franklin Mohr, who was murdered in his automobile on the Barrington road, told Chief of Police Robbins that on the Saturday before the murder, Mrs. Mohr had called her on the telephone and told her not to go out with the doctor as she did not want Miss Ormsby to get hurt.

This came on top of the story of Samuel Bryant, who said the motorcycle used that night by Cecil Victor Brown, the negro who has confessed to shooting Dr. Mohr, that a woman telephoned to him about two weeks before the shooting asking why lights for the motorcycle could not be provided. Bryant also says that Brown told him that Mrs. Mohr would gladly pay for the motorcycle if she had the money.

The police are now trying to trace the telephone call to Bryant in the hope of finding out who the woman was so interested in the motorcycle lights. Chief Robbins believes that the statement of Miss Ormsby and Bryant may strengthen his case.

Boy Kills Himself.

Linton, Ind., Sept. 8.—DeWitt Lund, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lund, a prosperous farmer, committed suicide by hanging himself with a tapeline in the woods, five miles north of the city. His neck was broken. The tapeline had broken causing the body to fall to the ground. The boy was found by a four-year-old sister.

PAN-AMERICAN ENVOYS TO MEET

Will Confer Again on Mexican Situation.

NOW QUIET ON RIO GRANDE

Both Carranza and Villa Lay Blame For Border Warfare on Outlaws Operating in the United States—Funston Makes Report.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Between now and the middle of next week another pan-American conference on Mexico will probably be held.

What the conference will do when it assembles, or whether it will take any final action if Carranza's reply to the pan-American "get together appeal," is not in by that time, was not stated by Secretary Lansing. It was said by other officials of the state department, however, that definite steps would have been taken before this but for the recurrence of crises in connection with the controversy between this country and Germany on the submarine question.

Announcement to this effect was made at the state department by Secretary Lansing following the publication of the fact that Ambassador Naon plans to return to his country on a leave of absence on Sept. 15.

The situation along the Texas border was reported quiet. Both Carranza and Villa have protested their innocence of any connection with the border raids, laying the blame on outlaws operating from both sides of the Rio Grande.

The war department made public this report made to Major General Funston, commander of the American border forces, by the commanding officer at Brownsville, regarding the accident to one of the American army aeroplanes.

"First Lieut. J. C. Morrow and First Class Private Khuenkryk fell 200 feet in signal corps aeroplanes. Morrow semi-conscious, superficial cuts, no fracture. Khuenkryk, broken cheek bone, badly lacerated right knee. Machine complete wreck. Morrow was ascending from flying field. Accident similar to Lieut. Sutton's at Fort Sill, in which Captain Knox was killed. Further report by mail."

Funston also forwarded to the department the following report from the commanding officer at Nogales, Ariz., dated Sept. 5:

"One thousand three hundred troops from Magdalena, abandoned those towns and are arriving in Nogales. Railroad wires down south of Aguazaca since morning and one or two bridges just north of Casa destroyed. Two bodies of Callista cavalry were observed near Quignono."

That more than five hundred Mexicans have been killed in the border country and across the Rio Grande, since the trouble began three weeks ago is indicated by reports made by rangers to peace officers in the various counaies, it is reported.

$80,000,000 GOLD SHIPMENT

England Makes Third Shipment of Gold to America.

New York, Sept. 8.—The treasure train from Halifax, carrying England's third shipment of gold of this country, slipped into New York under cover of darkness. There were eighty millions in gold and securities aboard the train, which is the biggest consignment that has yet arrived for J. P. Morgan & Co. It required twenty-five auto trucks of the American Express company to take the gold from the Grand Central station to the subtreasury.

It was the first belief when the British cruiser Argyle landed the gold and securities at Halifax, that the shipment to strengthen British credit here would amount to fifty millions, but word from Portland, Maine, where the train went through, said that the gold consists of 11,650,000 English sovereigns, or about $58,250,000, and $7,850,000 in United States coin, and $14,000,000 in bonds, which makes a total of $80,100,000.

Earthquake Reported.

La Libertad, Salvador, Sept. 8.—A strong earthquake has occurred in San Salvador and Guatemala. Jutupa, capital of the department of the same name, in Guatemala, has been ruined. In the city of San Salvador, no victims have been reported. In Santa Ana, there were a few casualties. Churches in Santa Ana, Sonsonite and other villages of the republic are in ruins.

Seamen's Act Opinion.

Washington, Sept. 8.—In an opinion given to the president and made public by the secretary of commerce, Attorney General Gregory holds that the La Follette seamen law does not apply to the principal maritime nations of the world so far as its requirements for life saving appliances are concerned.

Stolen Auto Found.

Summitville, Ind., Sept. 8.—The automobile of Saul Trotsky, of this place, which was stolen at Indianapolis several weeks ago while the family was attending a wedding, was found at Alexandria.

CHAPTER V.

Edward E. Allison walked into the offices of the Municipal Transportation company at nine o'clock, and set his basket of opened and carefully annotated letters out of the mathematical center of his desk; then he touched a button and a thin young man, whose brow, at twenty, wore the traces of preternatural age, walked briskly in. "Take Mr. Gregory these letters and ask him if he will be kind enough to step here."

"Free as Air," He Gayly Told Her.

"Yes, sir," and the concentrated young man departed with the basket, feeling that he had quite capably borne his weight of responsibility.

Gregory walked in, a fat man with no trace of nonsense about him.

"Out for the day, Ed?" he surmised, gauging that probability by the gift

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these organs, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'santal' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Santal tablets, which may be procured from any druggist, in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unslightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowel—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in every drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits."

"Santal tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Santal tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned."

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

"They say that the advent of the 'santal' tablet' as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives."

Santal tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpressiveness is another reason for the popularity of santal tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

of the letters.

"A month or so," amended Allison, rising and surveying the other articles on his desk calculatingly. "I'm going to take a vacation."

"It's about time," agreed his efficient general manager. "I think it's been four years since you stopped to take a breath. Going to play a little?"

"That's the word," and Allison chuckled like a boy.

"I suppose we'll have your address," suggested Gregory.

"No."

Gregory pondered frowningly. He began to see a weight piling up on him and, though he was capable, he loved his flesh.

"About that Shell Beach extension?" he inquired. "There's likely to be trouble with the village of Waveview. Their local franchise—"

"Settle it yourself," directed Allison carelessly, and Gregory stared. During the long and arduous course of Allison's climb, he had built his success on personal attention to detail. "Good-by," and Allison walked out, lighting a cigar on his way to the door.

He stopped his runabout in front of a stationer's and bought the largest globe they had in stock.

"Address, please?" asked the clerk, pencil poised over delivery slip.

"I'll take it with me," and Allison helped them secure the clumsy thing in the seat beside him. Then he streaked up the avenue to the small and severely furnished house where four ebony servants protected him from the world.

"Out of town except to this list," he directed his kinky-haired old butler, and going into the heavy oak library, he closed the door. On the wall, depending from the roller case, was a huge map, a broad familiar domain between two oceans, and he smiled as his eye fell upon that tiny territory near the Atlantic, which, up to now, he had called a world, because he had mastered it.

His library phone rang.

"Mr. Allison?" a woman's voice. Gail Sargent, Mrs. Sargent, Mrs. Davies, or Lucile Teasdale. No other ladies were on his list. The voice was not that of Gail. "Are you busy tonight?" Oh, yes, Lucile Teasdale.

"Free as air," he gayly told her.

"I'm so glad," rattled Lucile. "Ted's just telephoned that he has tickets for 'The Lady's Maid.' Can you join us?"

"With pleasure." No hesitation whatever; prompt and agreeable; even pleased.

"That's jolly. I think six makes such a nice crowd. Besides you and ourselves, there'll be Arly and Dick Rodley and Gail," Gail, of course. He had known that. "We'll start from Uncle Jim's at eight o'clock."

Allison called old Ephraim.

"I want to begin dressing at seven-fifteen," he directed. "At three o'clock set some sandwiches inside the door. Have some fruit in my dressing room."

He went back to his map, remembering Lucile with a retrospective smile. The last time he had seen that vivacious young person she had been emptying a box of almonds, at the side of the camp fire at the toboggan party. He jotted down a memorandum to send her some, and drew a high stool in front of the map.

Strange this new ambition which had come over him. Why, he had actually been about to consider his big work finished; and now, all at once, everything he had done seemed trivial. The eager desire of youth to achieve had come to him again, and the blood sang in his veins as he felt of his lusty strength. He was starting to build, with a youth's enthusiasm but with a man's experience, and with the momentum of success and the power of capital. Something had crystallized him in the past few days.

Across the fertile fields and the mighty mountains and the arid deserts of the United States, there angled four black threads, from coast to coast, and everywhere else were shorter main lines and shorter branches, and, last of all, mere fragments of railroads. He began with the long, angling threads, but he ended with the fragments, and these, in turns, he gave minute and careful study. At three o'clock he took a sandwich and ordered his car. He was gone less than an hour, and came back with an armload of books; government reports, volumes of statistics, and a file of more intimate information from the office of his broker. He threw off his coat when he came in this time, and spread, on the big, lion-clawed table at which Napoleon had once planned a campaign, a varicolored mass of railroad maps. At seven-fifteen old Ephraim found him at the end of the table in the midst of some neat and intricate tabulations.

"Time to dress, sir," suggested Ephraim.

"Oh, it's you," remarked the absorbed Allison, glancing up.

"Yes, sir," returned Ephraim. "You told me to come for you at seven-fifteen."

Allison arose and rubbed the tips of his fingers over his eyes.

"Keep this room locked," he ordered, and stalked obediently upstairs. For the next thirty minutes he belonged to Ephraim.

He was as carefree as a boy when he reached Jim Sargent's house, and his eyes snapped when he saw Gail come down the stairs, in a pearl-tinted gown, with a triple string of pearls in her waving hair and a rose-colored cloak depending from her gracefully sloping shoulders.

Her own eyes brightened at the sight of him. He had been much in her mind today; not singly but as one of a group. She was quite conscious that she liked him, but she was more conscious that she was curious about him. He stepped forward to shake hands with her and, for a moment, she found in her an inclination to cling to the warm thrill of his clasp. She had never before been so aware of anything like that. Nevertheless, when she had withdrawn her hand, she felt a sense of relief.

"Hello, Allison," called the hearty voice of Jim Sargent. "You're looking like a youngster tonight."

"I feel like one," replied Allison, smiling. "I'm on a vacation." He was either vain enough or curious enough to glance at himself in the big mirror as he passed it. He did look younger; astonishingly so; and he had about him a quality of lightness which made him restless. He had been noted among his business associates for a certain dry wit, scathing, satirical, relentless; now he used that quality agreeably, and when Lucile and Ted, and Arly and Dick Rodley joined them, he was quite easily a sharer in the gaiety. At the theater he was the same. He participated in all the repartee during the intermissions, and the fact that he found Gail studying him, now and then, only gave him an added impulse. He was frank with himself about Gail. He wanted her, and he had made up his mind to have her. He was himself a little surprised at his own capacity of entertainment, and when he parted from Gail at the Sargent house, he left her smiling, and with a softer look in her eyes than he had yet seen there.

I do not recommend the Purdue serum above that put out by reputable firms in the state, but I certainly do urge vaccination of all hogs that have been exposed or that are in close proximity to affected animals."

The cost of vaccination is from 25 cents to $2 according to the weight, stated Mr. Cobb. He pointed out that all farmers must co-operate in controlling the epidemic. It is estimated that five hundred hogs have been lost in Grassy Fork township during the present epidemic, and Mr. Cobb said that in his opinion 75 per cent. of them could have been saved by vaccination.

Mr. Cobb said that he would be glad to hear from all farmers having sick hogs, and lend assistance in diagnosing the trouble and controlling outbreaks of disease.

LOCAL LIGHT CASE TO BE TAKEN UP IN NEAR FUTURE

State Commission Says Appraisal of Property Will be Started Shortly.

The public utility committee of the city council received a letter today from the Indiana State Public Service Company relative to the local case against that company.

The communication stated the commission had been informed that no agreement had been made between the city and the company as to rates and in the absence of such an agreement arrangements were being made to take up the case in a short time. It was stated that the commission expected to begin the appraisal of the property here within a month or six weeks.

The petition asking the revision of the local rates was filed several months ago.

Resolutions.

Resolved, That whereas grim Nature that which never fails in doing all things in accordance with Nature as Laws, has seen fit to remove from Seymour Council, No. 1516 of the Knights and Ladies of Security, on August 20, 1915, Mrs. Gertrude Early, one of its bright and cheerful members, we deplore her loss from our Lodge and deeply sympathize with her husband, two small children, parents, sisters and brothers, who will so greatly miss her.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our Council and the same be published in our daily papers and a copy be sent to the husband and the parents.

Respectfully submitted,
Mrs. Leota Abernathy,
Mrs. Nell Eudaly,
Mrs. Mabel Wilson, Committee.

Small Lightning Damage.

Small damage was done in the city Tuesday afternoon during the electrical storm. A "guy" wire supporting the trolley at the corner of Second and Chestnut streets was burned into when the wires were short circuited. In a few homes the electric light fuses were burned out during the electrical display. Light service in parts of the city was cut off until the repairs were made.

Little Story of Daily Life.

A report has been going around the streets today that a chef at a local hotel was injured during the storm yesterday. It was stated that he was almost electrocuted.

Inquiry was made and the answer was given that the chef was not hurt and had only stepped on a "currant" in a cookie.

PLANS TO ORGANIZE AN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION

Purpose to Secure Better Highways and Less Waste of Money Now Spent on Roads.

Mr. C. P. Guilford, field secretary of the Indiana State Automobile Association, is here today for the purpose of organizing a branch association in Jackson County. The purpose of the association is to work for state aid in the construction and maintenance of the principal highways through Indiana under the direction of a state highway department.

Mr. Guilford stated that under present conditions the counties and townships in Indiana spend $15,000,000 annually on their roads. Of this amount about $4,500,000 is properly used and the other is lost through wasteful methods of the present system. In other words the tax payers get about thirty per cent. benefit and have wasted about seventy per cent. of the amount they spend annually on their highways. One of the purposes of the association is to overcome this wasteful condition.

Another purpose is to establish a system of signals on all main highways, so that notice of dangerous turns, railroad crossings and other places where accidents are liable to happen may be given to travelers as they approach these places.

The association is organized at present in fifteen counties of the state and the work of organizing the remaining counties is being pushed as rapidly as possible.

structed are in Hamilton, Salt Creek and several other townships and are to replace those which were damaged or washed away during the flood in July. The contractors remained around the auditor's office hoping that the contract would be awarded, until the bids were rejected.

The only contract for a new bridge was for the McClain concrete flat bridge in Salt Creek township which was awarded to Early B. Lutes for $147.50. The other contracts will be taken up at a later meeting after the new bids are filed.

The auditor has also been receiving some of the reports of the trustees following the meetings of the township advisory boards Tuesday. The boards met in all townships and fixed the tax levies and the amounts to be expended for the different purposes during the coming year. The statements are filed with the township trustees and afterwards turned over to the auditor who will make them a matter of record. The levies in most townships were to be about the same as last year, it was understood.

SEYMOUR BUSINESS COLLEGE BEGINS ITS TENTH YEAR

Local Commercial Institution Has Had Splendid Growth and Has Done Excellent Work.

The tenth year of the Seymour Business College opened this week with a gratifying attendance in both the day and night classes. New students are enrolling daily, and as soon as cooler weather arrives the classes will doubtless be made still larger. From a very small beginning the local business college has grown until it ranks with the best schools of its kind in the state, and many of its graduates are holding down high class situations, while many others are teaching in commercial schools all over the country. As an example of the thorough work done in the local school, a graduate of the school recently passed a competitive examination for a good position in Louisville, and won first place and the job over more than a score of applicants, all graduates of Louisville and New Albany business colleges.

Prof. F. G. Marshall has had charge of the school for several years now, and has done excellent work with all his students. With such a school in the city it is unnecessary for any one to go away from home to secure a business education.

Card of Thanks.

To all of our friends and neighbors, to the members of the Women's Relief Corps, the choir, Rev. Mr. Carnes and all others who so kindly and sympathetically assisted and comforted us during our bereavement in the loss of our wife and mother, Mrs. Susan Champion, we extend our heartfelt thanks. Their acts and words will ever be held in sacred memory.

RED SOX TO HIT THE ROAD AFTER AUSTIN GAME

Three Games Scheduled at West Baden, With Prospective Dates at Washington and Loogootee.

After the second game of the Austin series Sunday the Red Sox will leave for West Baden where a three game series with the Sprudels has been scheduled for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Negotiations are on now for games at Washington, Loogootee and Princeton to fill out the week, and the management is expecting word from these teams today. All of the regular players will not be able to make the trip, but two new men, Eckert, a pitcher, and Belcher a shortstop from Milan, will be taken along. Manager Riehl yesterday said the following men would make the trip: outfielders, More, Swope, Riehl, Combs; infielders, Levi, Bozell, Belcher, L. Wagner; catchers, W. Wagner and Herman, pitchers, Voysls and Eckeret.

The Austin game Sunday will doubtless attract a large crowd, provided the weather man is in form and contributes a fair day, since hundreds were kept from the park last Sunday on account of the rains and threatening weather. A much larger delegation from Austin and Scottsburg is promised for the game, as the White Sox are confident of their ability to win and tie up the series. James and Voysls will again oppose each other on the mound.
